COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

TUESDAY EVENING, JAN. 31.

THE Bank of England yesterday put up the rate of discount 1 per cent., and it now stands at 6 per cent., a rate we have not seen for some years. Evidently it is to stop the flow of gold to the Bank of France. The panic in Stocks there is not likely to be allayed by the failure of the Union Générale. If we mistake not, this is the Company about which we heard so much a week or two since as having "cornered" the Rothschilds and other great capitalists, but their success and triumph seem to have been short-lived. Consols are quoted ½, Sterling Loan ¼, and 4 per cent. Rupee Paper ⅛ lower, but French Rentes have again recovered to 114¾.

Our market here to-day for all kinds of Stocks and Shares has been quiet in the extreme, and prices of almost everything are weaker.

GOVERNMENT PAPER has been decidedly flat, and 4 per cents have fallen from 100⅞ to 100½, and considerable quantities have changed hands at this low quotation. In Spinning shares the buoyant feeling has for the time quite disappeared, and for all the leading Companies almost we have to reduce our quotations slightly, though in most instances it is not more than Rs. 5 or so per share.

Cotton comes steady from Liverpool; sales 10,000 bales, spot prices unaltered. To arrive the quotations are :—

...Good, Feb.-March shipment, Canal... 5 5-32
...March-April ,, ... 5 9-32
...unghai, Good, Jan.-Feb. ,, ... 6¼
...he New York imports, however, have now-a-days ...h more influence on our market here than those from Liverpool. The receipts there had been rather fuller, viz., 21,000 bales, and though spot was still 12 cents., April delivery had declined from 12·60 to 12·40. We have therefore been very quiet here all day. Sellers will take Rs. 1 to Rs. 2 less, but it has not led to much business as yet. The current rates are Rs. 194 for Good Oomras, Rs. 184 for Fully Good Fair, and at these some business is put through for Ready on early delivery. Broach can also be done to-day, Good March delivery at Rs. 225, and April at Rs. 224.

IMPORTS.—In the piece-goods bazaar the more cheerful feeling we noticed yesterday has further developed to-day. The wants of the consuming districts must be urgent indeed when they show themselves on the face of such a stringent money market as we have here at present.

EXCHANGE is again very firm, and has indeed advanced 1-32 to 1-16 all round, as will be seen from our detailed quatations given herewith. Our quoted rates are current up to the 15th February. ...r that a slightly better rate might be got by ...ce, perhaps 1-32, but this is doubtful, as the ...g rates are very stiff :—

	Tele-graph.	Demand.	3 months' sight.	4 month's sight.
...ks.....	Is. 3 5-32d.	Is. 3 7-32d.	Is. 3¾d.	Is. 3 9-16.
	3 month's sight.		6 month' sight.
...dits.....	Is. 3¾d.		Is. 3 13-16d.
...cumentc.	Is. 3 11-16d.		Is. 3 15-16d.
...nos	216‡		215‡.

...EIGHTS continue quiet but steady at our quotations. European firms are not at present ...doing much in the way of engaging cargo, but ...e is a fair amount of business being put through ...ccount of native shippers.

MADRAS, JAN. 31.

The Maharaja of Travancore arrived at Madras this morning from Tanjore. He was accompanied by Mr. Hannyngton, the Resident, and the Dewan, Mr. Ramiengar. His Highness, who travelled in a carriage specially prepared by the South of India Railway, was received at the station, which was decorated for the occasion by the Chief Secretary to Government and the Hon'ble Muttusami Iyer, Chairman of the deputation of the native community. The band of the volunteers played as His Highness and party took their seats under a canopy. An address from the native community was then read, welcoming His Highness to Madras. The Maharaja made a fitting reply in which he alluded to the services of the ministers under him. As His Highness left the station, a guard of honour of two hundred men of the Essex Regiment presented arms, and a salute of nineteen guns was fired from the fort. The Maharaja visited the Governor today, and H. E. returns the visit to-morrow. His Highness leaves Madras on Saturday.

It is reported that H. E. the Governor intends to come to Bombay from Poona on Friday next, the 3rd February.

Mr. Kashinath Trimback Telang has been appointed a member of the Educational Conference which is to meet shortly at Calcutta.

It is stated that Mr. Walter Baring is to be transferred from Teheran to Japan as Secretary of Legation.

In fulfilment of the programme of the Camp of Exercise which we published on Monday, the troops from Poona and Kirkee, consisting of the 2nd Battalion East Yorkshire Regiment, Detachment of the Rifle Brigade, the 43rd Company Sappers and Miners, the 2nd Light Cavalry, the Poona Horse, Sappers and Miners, and the 9th, 14th, and 16th Regiments of Native Infantry, march this morning (Wednesday) to Nigree, 10 miles from Poona, for a period of 10 days.

The 3rd Bengal Native Infantry, at present employed in the Quetta District, has been ordered to return to India immediately.

His Highness the Maharajah of Kashmir is still seriously unwell. A European medical officer has been summoned from Rawul Pindi to attend His Highness.

A telegram, published by the Pioneer, from its correspondent at Sibi, states that reports have been received in Kandahar of the death of the Amir of Bokhara and of the taking over of the government by Russian officers. Some time ago the Amir was reported to be seriously ill, and the Russian newspapers openly spoke of the chances that Russia would annex his dominions. The report, therefore, which has reached Kandahar may turn out to be quite true.

The reports of the Revenue and Agricultural Department, on the state of the season and prospects of the crops throughout India for the week ending the 24th January, 1882, are summarised in the following "General Remarks:"—Bengal: the rice harvest is nearly over with a good average outturn; but the rabi is much in need of rain in Moorshedabad, Purneah, Durbhanga, Hazaribagh, and neighbouring districts. The irrigated crops in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh promise a good yield, but in the eastern half of the province the unirrigated lands are suffering for want of the usual winter rains. In the Punjab harvest prospects are reported to be favourable, and similar reports are received from Rajputana, Central India, the Central Provinces, Mysore, Coorg, the Berars, and Hyderabad. In Bombay the early crops are being reaped in parts, and elsewhere the rabi is doing well except in Ahmednagar, Nasik, and parts of Dharwar, where scarcity of water is much felt. There has been no rain during the past week in the Madras Presidency; the harvest is progressing, and the yield promises to be an average one. In Assam harvesting is in progress, and in British Burma it has closed, the yield being good and abundant. Small-pox and cholera are more or less prevalent throughout India, but have nowhere assumed a severe epidemic form, and the general health of the people remains good.

An inquiry has been held by the local authorities into the circumstances of the late railway accident at Shekoabad. It appears that the line not being clear, the mail train was allowed to start on the "following system," that is, the following or mail train driver received a "caution message" printed on green paper, stating the time of departure from Bedan of the goods trains in front of him, and the probable time of its arrival at Shekoabad. The driver of the up-mail train has now been committed for trial by the Sessions Judge under the Railway Act (IV of 1879) for doing a rash and negligent act, viz., in going under these circumstances, at such speed that he ran into a train, not actually known to have reached the next station, without seeing it (owing to fog) until he was within a few feet of the said train. Whether the driver of the goods train is liable for not taking steps to increase the speed of his train to the normal rate has been regarded as a moot point. So far, the Pioneer thinks, the public will hardly be inclined to regard this as a satisfactory result. It is easy to say that the drivers were in fault, and to send them to prison; but was the goods trains, as we have been informed, far too heavy for the engine put to draw it, and was the carriage which collapsed unfit for service? If so, persons in higher stations than those of the engine-drivers are partly responsible for the consequences of the catastrophe. It is very disgusting to see the small fry only punished in a case of this kind.

The Kurrachee papers have been much exercised lately on the subject of a proposed reduction of freights for goods by rail to that port from the Punjaub. The question is to be discussed at a meeting of railway officials to be held at Kurrachee this week, and, at the same time the important matter (of through-booking of goods by rail and steamer to England will also be considered. This latter question was gone into to a certain extent in Lahore, last week, Mr. Alexander (of Messrs. Mackinnon Mackenzie and Co.) and Mr. Lees representing the British India Steam Navigation Company, and Mr. Pavy, who is likely to be a large exporter, having met there to consider it. The Lahore paper is sanguine that the gentleman named, as well as Dr. Forbes-Watson, the writer of the excellent blue-book on Indian wheat, having been in Lahore together, promises well for the prospects of a wheat export trade.

Native enterprise in the Punjab is making rapid strides. The project for a tramway between Delhi and Rohtak, estimated to cost about three lakhs of rupees, has been warmly supported by native capitalists, and no difficulty is apprehended as regards money, even if the three lakhs are exceeded. In fact, one native gentleman at Delhi has offered to bear the whole cost of the line himself, provided that it did not exceed the estimate above stated; and many others are anxious to take up shares. The Tramway Company which expects to have the working of the line will be composed entirely of native capitalists to start with, and, judging from the inquiries already being made, a high premium for the shares should speedily be attained if they were thrown on the open market. The work is likely to be started shortly, the Lahore paper states, as it is believed H. H. the Lieutenant-Governor has agreed to the line being laid down along the side of the present road between the two stations. The tramway will be connected with the Rajputana State Railway, and will afford a much-needed means of drawing off the produce of the rich districts of Gohana and Sampla, which are now almost isolated for want of sufficient communication with the great markets.

The Times' Quetta correspondent telegraphed on Jan. 8:—"Most courteous and friendly letters from the Ameer are said to have been received by the present agent of the Governor-General in Beloochistan, and certainly it would appear that no pleasanter relations could well be established between this frontier and Afghanistan than at present exist. So well is this understood that attempts are never made to disturb them by mischievous or interested persons, and the postal arrangements with Kandahar work as in the rest of India. A large and increasing correspondence flows between the mercantile classes of Afghanistan and those of Shikarpur or Kurrachee. From Chaman, on the northern side of the Amran range, through Pishin vid the Bolan to Sibi, where the railway terminus still waits, the road is safely kept by the people themselves under their local khans, duly subsidized, while the more northerly and alternative route down the valley seems equally secure. The occupation of Pishin and the Hurnai route by four or five small garrisons has allowed this satisfactory condition of things to grow up, and makes us hopeful for the future, whatever may be decided. The people themselves seem to desire no change, and, for the time, appear entirely disconnected from Kandahar and Afghan politics, and to be occupied with their own affairs. In the enjoyment of high prices for their produce, an increasing trade, and unaccustomed peace, they seem to be qualifying for enlarged responsibilities under less direct control."

Although quarantine continues to be strictly enforced at all Eygptian and French ports, Malta, Gibraltar, Brindisi and Venice are now free.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies, after fully considering the arguments brought forward by the Government of the Straits Settlements, has decided to reduce the amount of liability on the part of the Colony towards defraying the expenses of the late campaign in Perak, by a sum of £20,000.

The Government of India has again brought to the notice of the Secretary of State for India in Council, the anomalous position of the new Indian Marine, and has strongly recommended that an Act of Parliament should be obtained to place the service on a proper footing, there being at present no legal means by which discipline can be maintained.

The boats of H.M.S. London, lately commanded by Captain Brownrigg, who recently lost his life while overhauling a slave dhow, have captured another dhow, having on board 157 slaves.

News received at Accra is said to confirm the report that 200 young girls had been murdered by the King of Ashantee for the purpose of mixing their blood with the mortar employed in building the new palace. It is stated that the girls were obtained from some neighbouring tribes, against which the Ashantis were made by the King's followers for the purpose of raising the required number of victims.

It has been decided by the military authorities not to embody the Irish Militia during the present year, owing to the disturbed state of the country.

Prince Victor Napoleon, according to a Bonapartist organ, was to start on the 25th January on a European tour, accompanied by a tutor, aide-de camp, and reader. On his return he will enter the artillery as a volunteer.

The Queen, it is stated, has been very much annoyed by the publication of an authentic letter by the late Prince Consort in a Munich newspaper. The letter was originally sent to Baron Stockmar by the Prince, but some one has managed to get hold of it, and a prosecution is threatened against the editor for publishing it. After much trouble the Crown Princess managed to get the document into her hands, and sent it direct to Her Majesty, who now retains possession of it.

The Army and Navy Gazette hears that Lieutenant-General C. J. Foster, C. B., is most likely to obtain the Colonelcy of the 21st Hussars, vacant by the death of General the Hon. J. W. B. Macdonald. General Foster served for many years with, and afterwards became Lieutenant-Colonel of, the 16th Lancers, and is now employed as a member of the Council of the Secretary of State for India. He is well known for his services after the abolition of the Purchase system, when he, by his exertions, helped considerably to bring about the inquiry into the case of the Purchase officers.

Lieut.-Col. White, V.C., C.B., who received an enthusiastic welcome in Broughshane, county Antrim, on his return from India, where he had distinguished himself in the Afghan campaign, has been presented with an address by the inhabitants of Ballymena. Lord Waveney presided, and there was a large assemblage of the residents of the surrounding districts. In the address he was welcomed on his return, and congratulated on his recently acquired and well-deserved honours.

We take the following paragraph from the World:—"On dit at the Reform and other centres of Liberalism that Mr. Forster visited the Queen, at her Majesty's express wish, to receive personally the Royal thanks for his effective measures for the restoration of order in Ireland."

Sir Richard Temple, Bart., G.C.S.I., recently delivered, at the Guildhall, Worcester, a lecture on "The Late Region on the Frontier of Eastern Thibet." The lecture was illustrated by a number of large coloured drawings, enlarged by Lieut. Temple from sketches made by Sir Richard Temple. Earl Beauchamp was in the chair.

The joint note presented by the English and French Consuls-General to the Khedive, Truth says, only carries out a policy which is the necessary outcome of our previous action in Egypt. The Sultan has been intriguing in order to force the Khedive to send him money. The "notables" are persons who want to obtain situations which will enable them to pillage the fellahs. The officers, with Arabi at their head, are mostly Turks, and would like to become the governing power, with plenty of pay and large allowances. The Sultan, the notables, and the officers, represent the old clique which, under Ismael, grew rich by oppression of the long-suffering fellahs. They hate European interference, because it represents order and economy. We have, in conjunction with France, assumed certain responsibilities towards the Khedive and towards the fellahs. Did we not act with France, she would be justified in acting without us. This would not suit us, for we can allow no power to exercise separate influence in Egypt. As for Prince Bismarck objecting to the joint action, this is an illusion. Prince Bismarck's policy is to hold the scales in European Turkey between Austria and Russia, so as to keep both these Powers occupied. All in regard to Egypt that he will do, will be to point out to us and to France that, whilst the other European Powers regard Egypt as an Anglo-French question, we ought to regard Turkey in Europe us a Russo-Austrian question, and in this he does a service to all who do not wish the Eastern Question again to embroil Europe. Austria and Russia in much the same manner take advantage of the opportunity to point out that our joint action in Egypt ought to involve the recognition of their right to act in European Turkey, irrespective of either us or of France. During the Russian war, Prince Bismarck urged us to take Egypt ourselves. When Lord Odo Russell came over to London to explain these views, Lord Derby took refuge in clap-trap about the wickedness of annexation. "It is difficult," dryly replied Lord Odo, "to make a foreign statesman understand that there is any difference between annexation in the north and in the south of Africa."

Mr. Oscar Wilde, the high-priest of Æstheticism, who is now in America, is reported to have made the important statement that he is disappointed with the Atlantic Ocean. In connection with this assertion the following appears in the St. James' Gazette:—

Sir,—As you have helped to give currency to a statement alleged to have been made by Mr. Oscar Wilde on his arrival in America, that he was "disappointed with the Atlantic Ocean," you will, I am sure, in common fairness, permit me to say that I was equally disappointed with Mr. Oscar Wilde. I had imagined, when I heard he was about to visit the United States, that the shadow of a Narcissus would for once in a way be cast upon my surface. A shadow, and a very remarkable one, certainly did dance upon the waves on several occasions during Mr. Wilde's voyage; as that gentleman must himself have observed while pensively leaning over the bulwarks of the vessel in which he made his passage. But the shadow was not that of Narcissus—at least, not according to my preconceived notion of the appearance of the beautiful son of the river-god Cephissus. Whatever it was, I know it frightened the fishes.—I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

THE ATLANTIC OCEAN.

In connection with the growth of telephone wires in Bombay which may be expected to follow the opening of the Oriental Company's Exchange, the following cutting from the Pall Mall Gazette is of interest:—"A new development of the dangers arising from the practice of carrying telegraph wires across streets in mid air is reported from Sheffield. A fire-escape, hurrying to a fire in which one child was burned to death, was arrested no fewer than three times by coming into contact with telegraphic wires stretched across the street. To avoid this in future an order has been made that in Sheffield no wires must be hung lower than 35 feet from the ground. This, no doubt, will take them out of the way of fire escapes, but it will increase the danger when a snowstorm or a hurricane breaks the wires and brings them down upon the heads of the passers-by. It is to be hoped that Mr. Fawcett will be able speedily to carry out the reform which he has at heart, and altogether abolish overhead wires in towns, and especially in London. The first cost would be great; but the increase of safety both to the wires and to the public would be ample compensation.

The official inspection of the Mont St. Gothard tunnel has taken place, and it is pronounced perfectly safe. Goschenen, which for nine years has been a scene of incessant activity, although it may have a certain importance as a restaurant station on the St. Gothard line, will now subside into its primeval quietude. A project has been mooted for connecting it by a regular diligence service with Dissentis and Chur, on the ground that this will be the best and nearest route between Italy and the Engadine.

An audacious robbery was comitted in Paris on January 11th. A man styling himself Colonel Gaston, and representing himself as an American, went into a jeweller's shop, chose jewellery to the amount of 246,000f., locked them—up in a leather bag, and tendered a cheque in payment. On this being demurred to, he said he would cash the cheque at a money-changer's, and quitted the shop, apparantly leaving the bag on the counter. He did not return, and on the bag being forced open it proved to be full of worthless articles. It is supposed that a customer who entered during the negociations to buy some studs was an accomplice, and brought him a second bag, and diverted the jeweller's attention while the substitution of one for the other was being effected.

THE NEW ROUTE OF THE P. & O.

We have received the following letter describing the new route in England adopted by the P. & O. vid Plymouth and the Great Western Railway. It was written by a passenger who went home by the first steamer touching at Plymouth, and as the writer seems to be perfectly acquainted with the great Devonshire port and the beauties of the Western counties, we publish his letter for the information of future passengers.

LONDON, Jan. 11.

I have just reached town by the new route of the P. & O. by way of Plymouth. It is one of the best moves they have made for some time, and I shall be much surprised if it does not take immensely. When all the improvements in course of preparation are completed (and I am told six weeks will finish all), there will be nothing wanting to make the landing and transit to Paddington the simplest and pleasentest thing imaginable, even to ladies encumbered with their little charges and ayahs, as they usually are.

The Great Western Railway has evidently made up its mind to deal with the new traffic in an exceptionally thorough and liberal way; and, as the docks belong to them, they have the whole thing in their own hands, which is in itself a guarantee for good and thorough work. Their steam tenders are already far above the average, but they are not satisfied with this, and are building a fine saloon steamer of large capacity, and, in accommodation, specially adapted to the service required of her. They are doubling the size of their waiting-rooms and the baggage-clearance depôt. They are extending their line down to the docks, and putting up a platform opposite the waiting-rooms, besides establishing a branch telegraph office for the convenience of passengers. Here also they label baggage for its various destinations on the line of rail; and, to meet the case in a more substantial way, they are granting first-class tickets to London at second-class fares; and while making these tickets available for a month, they allow the holders to break the journey at any station on their main line. When I add that they are putting on specials when the steamers do not exactly hit off their regular trains (and they do the distance 246 miles in 6 hours), you will say with me that if the P. and O. people and their passengers are not satisfied—well, they ought to be!

For old Anglo-Indians, like you and me, I can imagine no fitter place to get a first glimpse of the dear old country than Plymouth. Forty miles from Ushant, the course is a straight one to the Eddystone; and as the vessel steams into the harbour and anchors inside the splendid breakwater, the first greeting of home is indeed a grand one. Green soft-wooded Mount Edgcombe is on the left, and the Hamoaze and Tamar, studded with old line-of-battle ships, and the more modern ironclad and turret-ship, are ahead, with the busy dockyards at Keyham and Devonport on the banks, while Plymouth, so rich in associations dear to a sailor's heart, is on the right. Here, on landing from the tender, is no room for misgivings of rapacious dock porters or cab-drivers. No touts are allowed; and the paternal administration does everything for you free of expense, while the polite and reasonable Customs officials pass your baggage in the most systematic, expeditious, and orderly way.

If you wish to remain in the town, it is well supplied with good hotels; and if you want to continue your journey at once, there is your train brought to the waiting-room door, and you have nothing to do but to settle yourself down in the finest saloon carriage in the world, and be carried at the rate of 60 miles an hour to your destination. These same carriages are unique, the broad-gauge of the Great Western alone admitting of them. They have no less than six compartments and are ten feet wide, with a well lighted and well ventilated high ceiling, unequalled on any other line, while the axles are on "bogies," which make the sharpest curve imperceptible, and the running so smooth, that it is difficult to realise the rapid speed at which you are being whirled along the line.

Then who can describe the lovely scenery, which from Plymouth to Swindon is one endless sucession of England's loveliest home pictures, You and I who know so well what a wealth of wooded hill and vale, of river, sea and quiet pasture land Devon and Somerset can afford, can form some just conception of the effect produced on the faded eye of an Anglo-Indian freshly landed from a long residence on the scorched plains of India, and half blinded by its glaring sun. To me the rest to the eye alone, reposing as it did on the ever varying shades of green—always green—was indescribable; and as I swept along to Totnes, with just enough of the barren Dartmoor hills on the left to act as a foil to the rich foliage on my right, I felt indeed that the hold which home had on me was far more than accounted for.

Then, as the Exe came in sight with its tawny-sailed craft lazily parting the water from their bluff old bows, and the Dart—most perfect of English rivers—was followed by the Teign, how proud I was of my native land! Can anything be lovlier than that little stretch of country from Plymouth to Teignmouth; or that charming seaside run from Teignmouth by Dawlish to Exeter? Where, too, do you see inland scenery to equal the Cheddar district, or the whole range of country from Taunton by Bristol and Bath to Swindon?

As the train rolled into Paddington, punctual to a minute, I felt that even the dear old Pi would have said, had the Editor been with us, that the much abused P. and O. had done the right thing for once. Don't forget, for the love of old Devon, to recommend all you know to land at Plymouth!

A BOMBAY DIVORCE CASE.

The Evening Standard of January 13th has the following report of the case of Symons vs. Symons and Maitland:—In the case the husband sued for a divorce on the ground of his wife's adultery with the Co-respondent. The case was undefended.—Mr. Inderwick, Q.C., and Mr. Bayford were counsel for the Petitioner; neither the Respondent nor Co-respondent were represented by counsel.—The Petitioner stated that he was married to the Respondent at Bombay, the 3rd of October 1876. He was a merchant in business at Bombay, and after the marriage they resided there. There have been two children born of the marriage. In June, 1879, they made the acquaintance of Mr. William Maitland, the Co-respondent, who was also a merchant at Bombay. They became very intimate with him, and he frequently visited at their house. In April, 1880, his wife left for England with the two children, and on her doing so Maitland took up his abode with him. After some time differences arose between them, upon which Maitland left his house, and their friendship ceased. In the early part of 1881 he heard that Maitland had left for England, and he wrote his wife not to receive him, or to have anything to do with him. He received a letter from his wife in reply, and he wrote her again warning her to have nothing to do with Maitland. Some time after he received a telegram from London. It was sent by a Mr. Melville, who was a friend of the family. In consequence of that telegram he c[illegible]nd. On arriving in London he [illegible]fe, who told him that she had [illegible]aitland. He remonstrated with he[illegible]o, when she accused him with [illegible] with a lady in India. He [illegible] charge. Some correspondence ensued respec[illegible]d ultimately his wife withdrew it. Previous to his leaving his wife to return to Bombay she told him that she had ceased to have any affection for him, and that she did not wish to live with him. He told her that whatever feelings she might entertain as to himself, never, on any account, to see Maitland. He likewise wrote Maitland never to call upon his wife, or to have any communication whatever with her. He afterwards found that on June 22, 1881, his wife left her home and joined Maitland, and that they cohabited at the Bristol Hotel, Burlington-gardens, and at Clarke's Private Hotel, Albemarle-street. He then instituted the present suit.—Mary Goulberry stated that she was chambermaid at the Bristol Hotel. About the 22nd of June of last year, a lady and gentleman came to the hotel and occupied room 114. They occupied the same bed-room and passed as man and wife. They stayed at the hotel three days. On the 26th July last she went to Clarke's Hotel, Albermarle-street, where she saw the same lady and gentleman in presence of Major Symons.—Edward Goulberry stated that he was porter at the Bristol Hotel. He recollected a lady and gentleman coming to the hotel about the 22nd of June, 1881. They gave the names of Maitland, and lived as man and wife. He afterwards saw the lady and gentleman at Clarke's Hotel in the presence of Major Symons and his wife, the previous witness.—Major William Penn Symons stated that he was a brother of the Petitioner, and was under orders to leave for India with his regiment immediately. On the 25th July of last year he went to Clarke's Hotel, Albermarle-street, in company with the two previous witnesses. They there saw the Respondent and Co-respondent and both Witnesses identified, them as the lady and gentleman who had slept at the Bristol Hotel.—Mr. Clarke stated that the Co-respondent was in the habit of using his hotel when in London. He did so last summer. On the 22d of June a lady visited him there who passed as his wife. They remained at his hotel on and on until the 19th of August. On the 25th July Major Symons came to his hotel and identified them as the Respondent and Co-respondent.—Sir James Hannen considered the case clearly made out, and pronounced a decree nisi with cost.

THE AJANTA CAVES.

We have had the pleasure of seeing a painting, just completed by Mr. Griffiths, Superintendent of the School of Art, the subject of which is most interesting, and one which has occupied our attention a good deal lately. It's title is "Ajanta Caves, A. D. 600," and represents the entrance to one of them in its pristine richness of carving and colour, enhanced by the grey haze of the rugged semi-circular scarp out of which the caves are excavated, and which forms the background to the picture. The details also of form and ornament are facsimiles of the originals, restored where time and decay have made their ravages, and not only has the temple been restored, but its recreant devotees have returned to their shrine. Priests, bareheaded and in saffron robes, are worshipping on the threshold or passing in with offerings to Buddha. The whole foreground of the picture is bathed in glorious sunlight, illuminating with subtle power the venerable old man, who on his knees is chanting his Magnificat, lighting up his companion whose head is lowly bowed in silent adoration, bringing into strong relief the tall figure bearing his tray of flowers, touching the folds of the priests' clothing as with threads of gold, kissing the tender blossoms that are scattered on the ground, and pouring down in white heat on the pavement its dazzling glare intensified by the deep shadows that fall upon it. We do not feel called upon, even if we had the power, to criticise this picture; but we think all who see it must experience the feeling (too well known, perhaps, in this country) of being suddenly brought within the influence of blazing sunlight, and all may appreciate the richness and harmony of colour, the grace of form and drapery, and the great carefulness and truth in detail with which this picture is replete.

ANOTHER ADDRESS OF SYMPATHY TO SIR JAMES FERGUSSON.

We have been asked to publish the following address from the Bombay Native Merchants' Association to H. E. the Governor:—

To His Excellency the Right Honourable Sir James Fergusson, Bart; K.C.M.G., C.I.E., Governor of Bombay.

May it Please Your Excellency.—We, the Chairman and members of the Native Merchants' Association, Bombay, on behalf of the Native merchants of this city, respectfully beg permission to tender you the expression of our deep and sincere sympathy, in the heavy affliction that has fallen on you and your Excellency's family by Lady Fergusson's sudden and untimely death; and by the death of her Ladyship's niece.

From the day of Lady Fergusson's arrival on these shores to the hour when she was taken from amongst us, she was held in affectionate regard and esteem; for in the discharge of the duties of her great station, she ever set a worthy example to those around her, of how to be "kindly affectioned one to another". And especially was this so in regard to those of the people of this land who had the honour of her acquaintance, and the expressions of whose grief for the loss of the friend they mourn have been so widely made known, not only in Bombay, but throughout the presidency. We feel assured that the void felt in the first household in the land, is felt in no inconsiderable degree in thousands of other homes; and we trust it may afford you some consolation to remember that the memory of this excellent and amiable lady will long be cherished in all quarters of that geat dependency of the British Empire over which you have been appointed to rule.

That He who has stricken you and your's so heavily, may in His wisdom be pleased to support you in your trial, and give you strength to perform the duties of your exalted office, is the prayer of Your most obedient and humble servant,

Mooljee Jewrag, Chairman.
Lukhamsee Nuppoo, Hony. Secretary.

OLD ELPHINSTONIANS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "BOMBAY GAZETTE."

Sir,—With reference to a para. which appeared in your local column yesterday anent the rapid promotion of Mr. Cohiyar, allow me to draw your attention to the fact that almost all of Mr. Cohiyar's Parsee contemporaries at Elphinstone College are getting on remarkably well in life. When Mr. Cohiyar joined college, Mr. J. A. Dalal, M.A., L.L.B., was a Fellow there; Messrs. B. E. Modee, M.A., LL.B., M. J. Taleyarkhan, B. A., and H. J. Bhabha, M.A., were members of the B. A. class; Messrs. J. E. Davar and H. N. Servai of the senior F. A. Class; and Messrs. D. N. Wadia, M.A., M. N. Wadia, B. A., J. B. Marzban and M. M. Bhownuggree of the junior F. A. Class.

Mr. Dalal is now Vice-Principal of Elphinstone High School, and is looked upon as a first-rate mathematician; Mr. Modee is a thriving Sub-Judge in Guzerat; Mr. Taleyarkhan is a successful High Court Pleader; and Mr. Bhabha is Vice-Principal of the Bangalore Central College. Of the rest, Mr. D. N. Wadia has succeeded Professor Burgess in the responsible post of Principal of the Sir J. Jeejeebhoy Benevolent Institution, which is eminently successful under him, and is now recognised by the major part of the Parsee community as their great national High School. His brother, Mr. M. N. Wadia, is a superintendent in the Secretariat, and promises to rise still higher. Messrs. Davar, Servai, Bhownuggree, and Cohiyar are not University men, though Mr. Cohiyar shared with Messrs. Modee, D. N. Wadia and some others the distinction of being excellent writers of English verse. Mr. Davar is now secretary of a mill; Mr. Servai is License-Tax Collector; Mr. Marzban is your well-known manager; Mr. Bhownuggree has stepped into his father's shoes as Agent to His Highness of Bhownuggar, and (what is more surprising) is a Fellow of the University to boot; and Mr. Cohiyar is Acting Assistant Secretary, Revenue Department. All these young gentlemen were pupils of Mr. Chatfield, who deserves great credit for their success in the world. They are all however as quiet and retiring as Mr. Chatfield himself, and take hardly any part in public matters.

AMERICAN ORGUINETTE, IMPROVED PATTERN.

THE AMERICAN ORGUINETTE is a Reed Musical Instrument, constructed somewhat on the principle of the American Organ, and adapted to be automatically operated by simple sheets or strips of perforated paper, each sheet representing one or more tunes. There is no limit to either kind or quantity of music. It will play HYMN TUNE, POPULAR AIR, SET OF QUADRILLE, POLKAS, WALTZES, REELS, and HORNPIPES With a clearness, sweetness and degree of power no [illegible] can equal. A MERE CHILD CAN PLAY IT. The music-box and all kindred instruments are the only expensive luxuries enjoyed by a few, but they are limited to a few set tunes, and so soon become tiresome, and as means of enjoyment to their owners, entirely worthless. The AMERICAN ORGUINETTE, with its automatic music sheets, represents both organ and organist, music, musician, and music-teacher, and so is admirably adapted for singing-parties, dancing-parties, winter evening entertainments, and educational purposes, and is, therefore, not only the latest musical wonder, but the price considered.

The most Marvellous Mechanical Musical Instrument of the Age.

It is the most simple, perfect, instructive, enjoyable, and amusing automatic Musical Instrument in the World.
